FOR THE YEAR 1874-75.

No. 2.

THE 17TH JUNE.

(In circulation.)

7. Read the following minute by Mr. Montriou :—

Minute with reference to the approaching vacancy in the Tagore Law Professorship.

As I understand, the recognized purpose of the labors of this Professor is two-fold :

1st.—To give complete and reliable instruction upon the head or branch of Law study selected :

2ndly.—To furnish a yearly contribution to the Indian Law Library ; one of an authoritative, erudite, and trustworthy character.

The field or subject of instruction in each year, with its classification :

the methods and times of teaching (so it be by lectures):

the status of the teacher :

are, each, discretionary, variable, adaptable, unlimited.

Truly, then, this patronage is a prize, valuable every way—a perennial faculty of incalculable beneficence and utility.

Here is no mere project or means for qualifying college lads to pass a degree standard ; that task is accomplished by their college tutors. The instruction to be afforded by the Tagore Law Professor is to be of the most complete and advanced type, necessarily, inasmuch as by the constitution and conditions of the office, that instruction is to enlighten and to benefit all, not a limited class, and it is to have a lasting and standard value—in fine, to be stereotyped, for all, and for all time.

Now, I ask those whom either official position and duties, whom their daily labors, whom years of professional observation, or, whom any other accidents of status or qualification may have placed on a vantage-ground to learn the specialties and difficulties of Law-administration in India—whether, in the daily exercise of that administration, instances do not occur in which definite knowledge of rule and doctrine is not only absent, but seemingly unattainable—the cause being that scientific or thorough treatment of the subject is—nowhere.

Notably is this the case with the Hindu Law. Another eight years will complete the century that our Calcutta Court has administered Hindu Law as the law of the Forum between Hindus—not as special, or local, or personal usage—and yet it is not (I venture to affirm) possible to read the reported arguments and judgments upon any really disputed issue of Hindu Law, without a consciousness of the struggle there is, and must be, to arrive at any satisfactory conclusion—without, moreover, a feeling of inconclusiveness, of doubt, rather than of confidence, as to many of the cases in the result.

Such, I may be told, is and must be frequently inevitable in all legal, or ethical, or logical controversy—yes, but, generally, sound premises at least are attainable, and the dogmatic rules to be dealt with or applied are within reach. In Hindu Law research, however, there is an idiosyncrasy. After groping one's way in a labyrinth of texts and dicta (often but pseudo-land-marks, because imperfectly selected and but half comprehended), and catching at every semblance of authority, it may be, and by no means improbably, that the only real or reliable guidance has been overlooked, has not been adverted to or known.

As an instance and illustration of what I mean, I refer to the case Gridhari Lall Roy versus the Bengal Government (12 Mo. I. A. 448), and the comments upon that case of the late Professor Goldstücker, in his pamphlet 'on the deficiencies in the present administration of Hindu Law.'

The Professor has proved that the correct decision ultimately arrived at upon a somewhat elementary, though very important, doctrine, was rather an accident, than a logical or rightly-reasoned result, from a Hindu point of view. He has proved, further, that had the scientific or complete knowledge of the subject, which the Professor himself with facility opened up, been applied or properly sought for, the tedious and expensive litigation could scarcely have occurred. (See also his reference to the Sivagunga case.)

Had Theodore Goldstücker been at hand—had he taught us—had he been our Tagore Law Professor, could such a state of things have been?

I trust I have said enough to justify my wish and anxiety that the Tagore Law Professorship should be utilized for the special want that I have indicated—enough also to show how greatly the public (especially that portion upon whose labors the learned and right administration of civil justice depends) are in need of some safe didactic aid—some reliable guide through the maze of little explored authorities and doctrine. We know that a clue can be in his hands only in whom are combined—

(1) Familiarity with the Sanscrit;

(2) Ample leisure, with devotion to his professorial task;

(3) Knowledge not only of his subject, but of the existing deficiency and want

Must it not be, that a really efficient professor will, in all reasonable probability, go more than half way to abolish, in but a few years, the present dangerous and tentative condition of Hindu Law learning among us?

It is unnecessary to remark here upon the nomination or choice to be made: the field is limited—very.

W. A. MONTRIOU.

ORDERED—

(1.) That Mr. Montriou's minute be printed and circulated to the Members of the Faculty of Law.

(2.) That the Faculty be requested to advise the Syndicate as to the steps to be taken for appointing a successor to the present Tagore Law Professor, whose term of office expires on 31st August next.

THE HON'BLE JUGGODANANDA MOOKERJEA, RAI BAHADOOR.
BABOO ANNODAPRASAD BANERJEA.
BABOO SHAMA CHURN SIRCAR.
THE HON'BLE ABDOOL LUTEEF, KHAN BAHADOOR.

8. The Faculty met to advise the Syndicate as to the steps to be taken for electing a successor to the present Tagore Law Professor, whose term of office expires on 31st August next.

The minute by Mr. Montriou with reference to the approaching vacancy in the Professorship having been printed and circulated to Members of the Faculty, was taken as read (see Minutes, paragraph 7).

The President pointed out that in previous years the first step in the proceedings for electing a Tagore Professor had been the issue of an advertisement in the newspapers, calling upon candidates to send in applications for the Professorship.

Some Members of the Faculty thought that it was not desirable to follow the practice of former years in this respect on the present occasion, and the President called upon the Faculty to declare whether the Syndicate should or should not be advised to issue an advertisement inviting candidates to come forward for the Professorship.

IT WAS DECIDED—

That the Syndicate be advised to issue an advertisement.

The Hon'ble Mr. Markby then moved, and Mr. Branson seconded the following resolution:—

That the Syndicate be advised to issue the same advertisement as last year.

Moulovi Abdool Luteef moved as an amendment—

That the subject of the lectures be fixed by the advertisement.

The amendment was put to the vote and lost.

The original motion was then put to the vote and carried.

THE REVD. S. DYSON.	THE HON'BLE W. MARKBY.

9. Read proceedings of the Annual Meeting of the Senate on 30th April.

With reference to the changes in the Regulations for Honors in Arts and Law sanctioned by the Senate, the Registrar reported that the Governor General in Council in letter No. 192 of 19th May, from the Officiating Under Secretary to the Government of India, had been pleased to approve of the same, and they had been duly notified in the Gazette for general information.

10. Read letter No. 172 of 22nd April, from the Government of India, sanctioning the appropriation of Rs. 5,000 out of the surplus receipts of the year 1873-74, as proposed by the Syndicate.

ORDERED—

To be recorded.

11. The following gentlemen were appointed Members of the Committee for selecting books for the Library:—

Captain Jarrett,

Mr. Heeley,

and the Registrar was requested to move the Committee to submit at an early date a list of the works they think suitable for the University Library.

12. Read again the recommendation of the Examiners, that the present standard of marks for passing the Honor Examination in Arts be raised in all subjects, except Mathematics.

RESOLVED—

That the existing standard of marks in Mathematics be maintained, and that the following revised standard be adopted in all other branches:—

For a 1st class, 60 per cent. of the aggregate marks with 30 per cent. in each paper.

For a 2nd class, 45 per cent. of the aggregate marks with 30 per cent. in each paper.

For a 3rd class, 40 per cent. of the aggregate marks with 30 per cent. in each paper.

For the degree of M. A. the standard to be that for a 3rd class in Honors.

13. Read again the recommendation of the Junior Board for Examiners in Medicine, that the First Examination in Arts be substituted for the Entrance Examination as a qualification for entering upon the study of medicine (Minutes, vol. XVII, para. 103).

Read also proceedings of the Faculty of Medicine on the same question, on 6th May and 19th June 1872 (Minutes, vol. XVI, paras 2 and 4).

RESOLVED—

1. That the Syndicate approve of the substitution of the First Examination in Arts for the Entrance Examination as a qualification for admission to medical studies, and that the necessary changes in the Regulations be submitted for the sanction of the Senate.

2. That the Faculty of Medicine be requested to consider whether, on the substitution of the First Arts for the Entrance Examination in the Regulations for the L. M. S. Examination, it would be preferable to require candidates for the degree of M. B. to take up at the final examination (in addition to the present subjects) the subject of Physiology (including comparative Physiology), or to confer the degree of M. B. upon Licentiates after they have passed the B. A. Examination.

14. Read proceedings of the Faculty of Medicine at a meeting on 13th June.

ORDERED—

That the changes recommended by the Faculty in clauses 9 and 10 of the present Regulations for the Second L. M. S. and Second M. B. Examinations respectively, be laid before the Senate for approval.

15. Read proceedings of the Faculty of Law at a meeting on the 24th June.

That, as recommended by the Faculty, the following advertisement be inserted in the newspapers:—

The term for which the present Tagore Professor of Law was appointed will expire on the 31st August next, and before that date a meeting of the Senate will be convened for the purpose of electing a successor for such further term as the Senate may approve.

The salary of the Professorship is Rs. 10,000 per annum, and one of the conditions of the appointment is, that the Professor shall deliver annually one complete course of lectures on some branch of Hindu, Mahomedan or Anglo-Indian Law.

Candidates for the Professorship are requested to forward their applications to the Registrar before the 24th July, and at the same time to state on what subject or subjects they would be prepared to lecture.

16. The following selections were appointed for the Honor Examination in Persian:—

Poetry.

Firdausi	Shahnamah, vol. I.

ORDERED—

That the warmest thanks of the Vice-Chancellor and Syndicate be conveyed to the Council of the Asiatic Society for their valuable donation to the University Library.

28. Read the following report of the Library Committee :—

A Meeting* of the Committee was held on the 9th July. At this Meeting it was resolved, before taking steps to purchase any books, to submit to the Syndicate a report indicating the general principles which in the opinion of the Committee should be followed in disposing of the sum of money available, and the way in which the Committee propose to carry these principles into effect.

Present :*
Mr. Tawney.
Mr. Heeley.
Captain Jarrett.
Mr. Sutcliffe.

On the Syndicate's approving of the general principles and mode of procedure proposed by the Committee, they will be prepared to lay out the money to the best of their power in such a manner as to secure the greatest possible literary advantages to the Fellows of the University.

In the first place the Committee wish to observe that the sum of money at their disposal is so small, that it is impossible for them to attempt to purchase a Library which can in any sense be termed complete.

Under these circumstances, they think it desirable to begin with procuring such books as shall render the Calcutta University Library supplementary to other Libraries now existing in Calcutta.

Such a course will ensure to the Fellows of the University an immediate advantage, and if at any future time funds should be available by donations, bequests, &c., it will be possible for the University authorities to complete their Library in such a manner as to render it worthy of the Institution to which it belongs.

In order to carry out the design of making the University Library as far as possible supplementary to the Libraries now existing in Calcutta, the Committee propose to apportion the small sum at their disposal (Rs. 9,000) in the following manner :—

In the first place they would allot about Rs. 3,000 for the purchase of the best books in Physical Science, not including Botany, Zoology, and the allied Sciences.

They are informed that there is at present no good collection of scientific books in Calcutta with the exception of the Natural History collection in the Indian Museum, and they think that, taking into consideration the growing importance of science, it is desirable to stock the Library with a good collection of such books as soon as possible.

Another Rs. 3,000 should, in their opinion, be allotted to oriental works. The Library has been promised a set of the Bibliotheca Indica, but there are a large number of editions, translations, and, above all, books of reference, such as the Petersburgh Sanskrit Lexicon, which they think would be of the utmost use to Fellows of the University interested in oriental studies.

They would of course give the preference to books published in Europe, and which, owing to the high price or for other reasons, are not easily procurable in this country.

It appears to them that Rs. 1,500 should be allotted to Sanskrit, Rs. 500 to Persian, and the remaining Rs. 1,000 to works on the Arabic Language and Literature.

The remaining Rs. 3,000 they propose to expend in the European Classics. It seems possible for this sum to procure good editions of the standard Latin, French, German, and Italian Classics; in the present state of education few of the Native Fellows would value a set of Greek Classics, it therefore seems unnecessary to spend any funds upon them.

The Committee propose that Mr. H. F. Blanford be commissioned to purchase the scientific books, that Mr. Cowell be requested to choose Sanskrit books, Mr. Wright those relating to Arabic and Persian, and it will no doubt be easy to obtain advice as to the cheapest satisfactory editions of the European Classics from English Scholars. In any case, it does not seem to the Committee desirable to take any step without procuring the opinion of the Syndicate as to the class of books most required.

It will be apparent that the selection of subjects proposed by us embraces but a small number even of the classes of books suitable for a University Library; but it must be remembered that the sum at our disposal is but small; that technical libraries of law and medicine already exist in Calcutta, and that English Literature, Mental Philosophy and many other subjects are fully represented in several collections of books available to all or most of those who are likely to have recourse to the University Library.

The present scheme will, if carried out, leave it in the power of those who may be subsequently entrusted with the duty of making additions to the Library to proceed with greater ease and certainty.

We have therefore the honor to request your approval of the scheme which we suggest, with permission to modify, as circumstances may render it necessary, our expenditure for European Classics.

For instance, if it should be found impossible for the sum of Rs. 3,000 to procure a complete set of German and Italian Classics, in addition to those of ancient Italy and modern France, we propose to confine ourselves to the latter only.

ORDERED—

That the report be adopted, and that the Committee be requested to take steps for carrying out their proposals.

29. The following gentlemen were appointed to conduct the B. A. Examination in Physics and Botany:—

Mr. C. B. Clarke	...	...	In Botany.
Mr. J. O'Kenealey	...	...	„ Physics.

30. The following graduates applied to be admitted to the examination for the Premchand Roychand Studentship in February 1875, in the subjects mentioned opposite to each:—

1. Sidhesvar Sircar	...	English, Physical Science, History and Political Economy.
2. Baburam Chattopadhyay	...	Mathematics, Pure and Mixed, History and Political Economy.

3. Gopalchandra Ray	...	Sanskrit, Mathematics, Pure and Mixed.
4. Bipinvihari Mukhopádhyáy		English, Pure Mathematics, History and Political Economy.
5. Sasibhusan Datta	...	Mental and Moral Science, History and Political Economy, and Physical Science.

ORDERED—

That the applicants be admitted to the examination.

31. Read letter from Baboo Parvaticharan Mitra, who passed the examination in Engineering for L. C. E. in 1862, and was declared to be entitled, under Regulations then in force, to the degree of Licentiate after passing the First Examination in Arts, requesting that as the First Examination in Arts was no longer necessary under the present Regulations for admission to the examination for a License, he might be allowed to receive his diploma as Licentiate in Engineering.

ORDERED—

That Baboo Parvaticharan be informed that the Syndicate are unable to comply with his request, as by so doing they would be giving retrospective effect to changes in the Regulations.

32. Leave of absence for two months and five days, from 10th August, was granted to the Registrar, and Mr. W. G. Willson was appointed Officiating Registrar during Mr. Sutcliffe's absence.

33. The following bills of contingencies were passed:—

35. The Faculty met to consider the changes proposed by Mr. Atkinson in the Schedule of subjects for the Entrance Examination (Minutes, paragraph 18).

Mr. Atkinson moved, and Moulovi Kabir Uddin seconded, the following resolution :—

That in the Schedule of subjects for the University Entrance Examination for 1875, and thereafter, the following alterations be made :—

1. In place of II—History, the following :—

II.—History and Geography.

The outlines of the History of England and of the History of India. The elements of Physical Geography, as in Blanford's Physical Geography, chapters I, II, III, VIII, IX, and so much of General Geography as is required to elucidate the histories.

The Hon'ble Mr. Ellis moved the following amendment :—

That in place of II—History, in the present Regulations, the following be substituted :—

II.—History and Geography.

The outlines of the History of India. The elements of Physical Geography, as in Blanford's Physical Geography, chapters I, II, III, VIII, IX. The outlines of General Geography, and the Geography of India.

The amendment was put to the vote and lost.

The original resolution was then put to the vote and carried.

36. The Revd. Mr. Ashton moved, and Mr. C. B. Clarke seconded, the following resolution :—

That the Syndicate be requested to consider the question of providing simpler and more suitable text-books in English and Indian History than those now prescribed.

The resolution was put to the vote and carried.

37. Mr. Atkinson moved, and Mr. Sutcliffe seconded, the following resolution :—

That, in the Schedule of subjects for the University Entrance Examination for 1875, and thereafter, the following alterations be made :—

41. The Senate met for the purpose of electing a Tagore Professor of Law, and to sanction certain proposed changes in the regulations for the Entrance, L. M. S., and M. B. Examinations.

42. The following gentlemen were candidates for the Tagore Law Professorship, and their names were before the Senate :—

Mr. Phillips.
Mr. Wood.
Mr. Sykes.
Moulovi Obaid Ullah.
Baboo Shamachurn Sircar.
Baboo Trailokyanath Mitra.

A letter from Dr. Chevers, with the following explanation, had been circulated to the members of the Senate before the meeting :—

"The Faculty of Law having considered the applications of candidates for the Tagore Law Professorship, 'were of opinion that Dr. Chevers was not eligible under the terms of the Will and the rules laid down by the Senate,' and this decision was subsequently confirmed by the Syndicate. Under these circumstances, Dr. Chevers' name was not included in the list of candidates to be laid before the Senate. Dr. Chevers now wishes that his name may be submitted to the Senate with the names of the other applicants for the Professorship, in order that the Senate may be in a position to review the decision of the Syndicate."

A letter from Baboo Shamachurn Sircar, withdrawing his name from the candidature, and tendering his thanks to the Senate for having bestowed on him the honor of the Professorship for the last two years, having been also circulated to the members of the Senate, was taken as read.

Baboo Shamachurn Sircar's name was then removed from the list of candidates before the meeting.

The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Markby moved and the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Jackson seconded the adoption of the following resolution submitted by the Syndicate to the Senate :—

"That Mr. Phillips, who has been recommended by the Faculty of Law, be elected Tagore Professor for the term of one year from 1st September 1874."

It was proposed as an amendment by Dr. Ewart and seconded by Dr. McLeod—

That Dr. Chevers' name be added to the list of candidates which is before the Senate.

After a prolonged discussion, during which the Hon'ble Mr. Hobhouse explained the grounds on which it had been decided by the Faculty of Law that Dr. Chevers was ineligible, the amendment was put to the vote and carried.

Dr. Chevers' name was then added to the list of candidates before the Senate.

A ballot was subsequently taken for all the candidates whose names were before the meeting, and the result gave a majority of votes in favor of Mr. Phillips.

The Vice-Chancellor then declared Mr. Phillips to be duly elected Tagore Law Professor.

43. The following resolution was proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Markby and seconded by Mr. Sutcliffe :—

That on the recommendation of the Syndicate and the Faculty of Arts, the following alterations in the schedule of subjects for the Entrance Examination for 1875, and thereafter, be sanctioned:—

In place of II—History, the following :—

II.—History and Geography.

The outlines of the History of England and of the History of India. The elements of Physical Geography, as in Blanford's

Physical Geography, Chapters I, II, III, VIII, IX, and so much of General Geography as is required to elucidate the Histories.

(The historical text-books will be fixed from time to time by the Syndicate.)

In place of Geometry, the following :—

Geometry and Mensuration.

The first four books of Euclid, with easy deductions. The mensuration of plane surfaces, including the theory of surveying with the chain, as in Todhunter's Mensuration, Chapters 1 to 8 and 10 to 15 inclusive, and Chapters 44 to 47 inclusive.

The Revd. K. M. Banerjea proposed as an amendment—

That the consideration of the proposed changes be postponed for two years.

The amendment was put to the vote and lost.

The substantive motion was then put to the vote and carried.

44. The following resolutions were proposed by Dr. Waller and seconded by Dr. Ewart :—

That on the recommendation of the Syndicate and the Faculty of Medicine, the substitution of the words "First Examination in Arts" for the words "Entrance Examination" in the under-mentioned Clause (b), Section 2 of the Regulations for the First L. M. S. Examination, be sanctioned :—

(b.) Of having been engaged in medical studies for three academical years after passing the Entrance Examination.

That on the recommendation of the Syndicate and the Faculty of Medicine, the addition of the following clauses to Section 9 of the Regulations for the Second L. M. S. Examination, and to Section 10 of the Regulations for the Second M. B. Examination, be sanctioned :—

1.—One course of 70 lectures :—

General Pathology and Morbid Anatomy.

2. Of having duly and carefully performed six post-mortem examinations.

That on the recommendation of the Syndicate and the Faculty of Medicine, the addition of Hygiene and Pathology to the list of subjects in which candidates are required to be examined under Section 13 of the Regulations for the Second L. M. S. Examination be sanctioned.

That on the recommendation of the Syndicate and the Faculty of Medicine, the addition of Hygiene and Pathology and of General and Comparative Physiology to the list of subjects in which candidates are required to be examined under Section 14 of the Regulations for the Second M. B. Examination be sanctioned.

That on the recommendation of the Syndicate and the Faculty of Medicine, the addition of words "and in General and Comparative Physiology" at the end of the under-mentioned Clause (c), Section 17 of the Regulations for the Second M. B. Examination, be sanctioned:—

(c.) Of having passed an examination in Comparative Anatomy and Zoology.

52. Read a letter from Mr. Bamanjee Phirozsha (Main Street, Poona), a Graduate of the Bombay University, and also a B. L. of the Madras University, asking to be allowed to appear at the Examination for Honors in Law in March 1875.

ORDERED—

That Mr. Bamanjee Phirozsha be informed that, in the event of no qualified Graduate of this University applying to be examined for Honors in Law next March, no special examination can be held on his behalf. But that he will be admitted to the next Examination for Honors in Law, which will be held at the usual date, whenever there may be candidates from among the Graduates of this University, and that notice of such examination will be forwarded to his address.

53. The Vice-Chancellor represented that the President of the Faculty of Law was desirous of having the present scheme for the Tagore Law Lectures, and the election of the Professor, brought before the Faculty of Law for re-consideration.

RESOLVED—

That the Faculty of Law be requested to re-consider the scheme of the Tagore Law Lectures, and the mode of electing the Professor.

MINUTES OF THE FACULTY OF LAW

FOR THE YEAR 1874-75.

No. 3.

THE 19TH DECEMBER.

Present:

THE HON'BLE ARTHUR HOBHOUSE, in the Chair.

THE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MARKBY.
THE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MACPHERSON.
MR. MILLETT.
MR. PHILLIPS.
BABOO SHAMA CHARAN SIRCAR.

54. The Faculty met—To re-consider, by request of the Syndicate, the scheme of the Tagore Law Lectures, and the mode of electing the Professor.

The following remarks by the President of the Faculty having been circulated to members, were taken as read:—

1. The Syndicate have passed a resolution to the following effect: "That the Faculty of Law be requested to re-consider the scheme of the Tagore Law Lectures and the mode of electing the Professor."

2. I was not present at the meeting at which this resolution was passed, but I imagine that the object of it is that the Faculty of Law should consider whether it is possible to seek a Professor in a larger field than Calcutta, or even than India, and whether for that purpose it may not be useful to offer to an eligible man a longer term of office than the scheme now allows.

3. The authority by which the Professor is appointed is determined for us by the Will of the Founder, which we cannot alter even if we wished to do so. I conceive, therefore, that the alterations in the mode of electing the Professor which the Syndicate contemplate relate to the preliminary steps taken to find a proper man, and to that part of the scheme which is headed (c), and runs thus:—

"That the Professor be appointed for a term of three years, and at the expiration of that term be eligible for re-appointment.

4. That this clause requires some revision seems pretty clear, because it has not been found convenient in practice. Practically, the appointments subsequent to that of Mr. Cowell have been made only for one year. Probably it would be desirable to say that the Professor be appointed for such term as the Senate think proper in each case, after considering the recommendation of the Syndicate.

5. On the much more important question which relates to the kind of man to be sought, and the steps taken to find him, I have little or nothing to suggest. But it seemed to me that the views propounded by Mr. Montriou at our last meeting were well worth considering. If that gentleman will be kind enough to put his plan into a definite shape, and if other gentlemen who have paid attention to the subject will be present at the meeting which has been summoned for the 19th instant, and be prepared to give advice on this question, we shall have done what we can to meet the views of the Syndicate.

After a discussion of the question before the meeting, it was resolved by the Faculty to recommend to the Syndicate—

That clause (c) of the present scheme be struck out, and the following substituted in its place—

That the Professor be appointed for such term as the Senate think proper in each case after considering the recommendation of the Syndicate, and that he be always eligible for re-appointment.

55. The Faculty then passed the following resolutions:—

(1.) That the enquiries which are made for candidates may usefully be extended beyond the confines of India.

(2.) That it be referred to three members of the Faculty to frame an advertisement for candidates, and to submit it to the Faculty.

56. The following gentlemen were appointed members of the committee for drawing up an advertisement:—

Mr. Justice Markby.
„ Millett.

57. The scheme of lectures on Land Tenures, which the Tagore Professor proposed to deliver, was submitted to the Faculty and approved.

MINUTES OF THE SYNDICATE,

FOR THE YEAR 1874-75.

No. 8.

THE 26TH DECEMBER.

Present:

THE VICE-CHANCELLOR.
THE HON'BLE W. MARKBY. | DR. WALLER.

58. Read proceedings of a meeting of the Faculty of Law held on the 19th December for the purpose of re-considering the scheme of the Tagore Law Lectures, and the mode of electing the Professor.

With reference to the recommendation of the Faculty—

That clause (c) of the present scheme be struck out, and the following substituted in its place,

That the Professor be appointed for such term as the Senate think proper in each case after considering the recommendation of the Syndicate, and that he be always eligible for re-appointment.

IT WAS RESOLVED—

That the proposal of the Faculty be recommended for the sanction of the Senate at a meeting in the month of January.

With reference to the proposal of the Faculty that enquiries should be made for candidates beyond the confines of India, Mr. Justice Markby was requested to submit at the next meeting of the Syndicate an advertisement for candidates approved by the President of the Faculty.

59. Read the following report of the Junior Board of Examiners:—

"We have the honor to forward for the approval of the Vice-Chancellor and Syndicate the result of the Entrance Examination."

"Two-thousand two-hundred and fifty-four candidates were registered for examination, and we have passed 966. Of the successful candidates, 172 were placed in the 1st division, 490 in the 2nd and 304 in the 3rd; 56 were absent during the whole or part of the examination; 1,232 have failed."

"The examination has been conducted in accordance with the instructions laid down for our guidance in our letter of appointment."

ORDERED:—

That the report be approved and the names of the successful candidates published in the Gazette.

60. Read the following report of the Senior Board of Examiners on the result of the First Examination in Arts:—

"We have the honor to submit for the approval of the Vice-Chancellor and Syndicate the result of the First Examination in Arts."

"Five-hundred and thirty-three candidates were registered for examination: of whom 18 passed in the 1st division, 78 in the 2nd and 97 in the 3rd; 6 were absent during the whole or part of the examination, 1 was expelled and 333 have failed."

"The examination has been conducted in accordance with the instructions laid down for our guidance in our letter of appointment."

ORDERED:—

(1.) That the report be approved, and the names of the successful candidates published in the Gazette.

(2.) That upon the result of this examination, the following students be elected Duff Scholars for 1875:—

Devendranath Das ...	... Presidency College.
{ Jogendrachandra Basu	... Metropolitan Institution.
Navadwipchandra Ray ...	... Free Church Institution.
G. E. Moffett ...	... La Martiniere College.

61. The consideration of the question of amending Section 8 of the First M. B. Regulations, and Section 4 of the Regulations for Honors in Medicine, was postponed till the next meeting.

62. The Registrar was directed to ask the sanction of the Government of India to the payment of a gratuity of Rs. 500, from the contingent grant, to the Post Office Clerks who gave information to the Post Master of the attempt to bribe them to tamper with the University packets of questions.

63. The Vice-Chancellor undertook to write to the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, with a view to the settlement of the question raised by the Officiating Principal of Canning College, in connection with the supervision of the University Examinations at Lucknow.

64. Read letter No. 2114 of 30th October, from the Director of Public Instruction, Oudh, asking for a definite rule on the subject of using symbols in writing answers to questions in Euclid.

ORDERED :—

That Mr. Nesfield be informed that the Syndicate adhere to the rule laid down by the University of Cambridge on this question, viz., that symbols of operation must not be used in answering questions in Euclid.

65. Read letter No. 860 of 12th November, from the Director of Public Instruction, North-Western Provinces, with enclosure, on the subject of introduction of Physical Geography into the Entrance Course of 1875; and submitting for the Syndicate's consideration "whether it would not be wise to begin with an elementary work of the kind purposely and carefully drawn up by Mr. Prichard, and to reserve Blanford for the First Arts Examination."

ORDERED :—

That Mr. Kempson be informed that the introduction of portions of Mr. Blanford's Physical Geography into the Entrance Course of 1875 was adopted by the Syndicate after the fullest consideration, and that they see no reason, at present, to modify the conclusion to which they came. Further, that a new edition of Mr. Blanford's book specially intended for the use of Entrance Candidates has been published in London, and will be available for Indian Schools in January.

66. It was ordered that the following estimate of Receipts and Disbursements by the University for the year 1875-76 be forwarded to Government.

71. The Senate met to consider the question of striking out clause (c) of the present scheme for the Tagore Law Lectures and of substituting for it the following:—

That the Professor be appointed for such term as the Senate think proper in each case after considering the recommendation of the Syndicate, and that he be always eligible for re-appointment.

The Vice-Chancellor having stated the reasons which had induced the Syndicate and the Faculty of Law to recommend this change—

It was moved by the Hon'ble Mr. Markby and seconded by the Rev. K. M. Banerjea—

That clause (c) of the present scheme for the Tagore Law Lectures be struck out, and the following clause substituted for it:—

That the Professor be appointed for such term as the Senate think proper, in each case after considering the recommendation of the Syndicate, and that he be always eligible for re-appointment.

Baboo Pearychand Mitra moved, and Baboo Omeschandra Dutt seconded, the following amendment:—

That the appointment of the Tagore Law Professor be for one year, and that the said Professor be eligible for re-appointment on the expiration of the first year.

The amendment was put to the vote and lost.

The original motion was then put to the vote and carried.

Baboo Rajendralala Mitra then moved, and Baboo Shamachurn Sarcar seconded, the following resolution :—

That the Syndicate be requested to refer to the Faculty of Law the question of revising the scheme for the Tagore Law Lectures as to the subjects upon which the Professor shall deliver a course of lectures.

The resolution was put to the vote and carried.

MINUTES OF THE SYNDICATE

FOR THE YEAR 1874-75.

No. 9.

THE 30TH JANUARY 1875.

Present:

THE VICE-CHANCELLOR.

THE HON'BLE W MARKBY.	COLONEL HYDE.
MR. W S. ATKINSON.	DR WALLER.
THE REV. S. DYSON.

72. Read the following report of the Senior Board of Examiners on the result of the B. A. Examination:—

We have the honor to submit, for the approval of the Vice-Chancellor and Syndicate, the result of the examination for the degree of B A.

The number of candidates registered for examination was 217, of whom 138 took up the A Course and 79 the B Course. Candidates taking up the A Course had the option of choosing to be examined in any two of the subjects, History, Philosophy, Mathematics, in addition to English, a Second Language, and Mathematics. We find that out of the 138 candidates, 74 took up Philosophy, 133 History, and 17 Mathematics. The candidates taking up Philosophy had the further option of being examined in Fleming's Moral Philosophy, or a portion of Butler's Analogy, or Fowler's Inductive Logic, in addition to Hamilton's Lectures; and we find that 74 were examined in Fleming, 16 in Butler, and 33 in Logic. The candidates taking up History had also the option of being examined in Arnold's Lectures on Modern History, or Mill on Representative Government, or the History of the Jews, in addition to the Histories of England and India; and we find that 7 were examined in Arnold, 25 in Mill, and 101 in Jewish History.

Of the 138 candidates in the A Course, we have passed 46, and 90 have failed, 2 candidates having been unable to appear. Of the 46 successful candidates, 3 have been placed in the first class, 22 in the second, and 21 in the third.

Of the different branches of Science which the 79 candidates in the B Course had the option of taking up, we find that 54 were examined in Physics, 22 in Botany, and 3 in Zoology. Out of 79 candidates, we have passed 44, of whom 23 have been placed in the first class, 16 in the second, and 5 in the third.

The Physical Science Examiners think it proper on this the first occasion of the B. A. Examination in Physical Science, to submit a few remarks on the result of the examination.

Out of 26 students composing the first class, 23 have selected the B Science Course. As there are two subjects (English and Mathematics) in common to the A and B Courses, and as the Science students have gained higher marks in these two common subjects, we are warranted in concluding that the best students have selected the Science Course. Mr. Willson, who examined 79 students in Chemistry and 54 in Physical Science, reports that in both of these subjects the candidates have done much better than on any previous occasion on which he was an Examiner. Out of the total number in Chemistry, about 45 showed a good knowledge of their text-book, and about 15 of these seemed really to understand something about the subject. Out of the whole number of candidates examined in Physics, 38 exhibited an accurate knowledge of book work, and out of these about 14 appeared to have obtained some grasp of the subject as far as they had read.

Mr. O'Kinealy, who examined the same numbers in Physical Geography and Physics, reports that most of the candidates exhibited a fair knowledge, and a few a really good knowledge, of the book work of the subjects. The Physical Geography was less satisfactory than the Physics, but very few of the candidates gave him the impression that they really understood much about the business.

Mr. C. B. Clarke, who examined 22 candidates in Botany, reports that one candidate passed a very good examination, and that the rest (except 5 who were plucked and who were also plucked in at least one other subject) had taken great labor in learning up the long text-book (Henfrey), but left him with the impression that they knew nothing about the matter. The "practical" part of the examination did not carry more than 25 per cent. of the marks, and in this poor marks were obtained.

The examination has been conducted in accordance with the instructions laid down for our guidance in our letter of appoinment.

ORDERED—

That the names of the successful candidates be published in the Gazette.

ORDERED—

That the names of the successful candidates be published in the Gazette.

75. Read proceedings of a meeting of the Senate on the 23rd January.

ORDERED—

1. That the new clause sanctioned by the Senate in lieu of clause (c) of the scheme for the Tagore Law Lectures, be published in the Calendar for 1875-76.

2. That the question of revising the scheme of the Tagore Law Lectures, as to the subjects upon which the Professor shall deliver a course of lectures, be referred to the Faculty of Law for consideration and report.

It was decided that the following notification regarding the Tagore Law Professorship be transmitted to the Home and German Universities, and to the Inns of Court in London :—

The Senate of the University of Calcutta will proceed to the election of a Tagore Law Professor in the mouth of August of the present year.

The duties of the Professor are to deliver in each year a course of lectures on some branch of Hindu, Muhammadan or Anglo-Indian Law.

Five hundred copies of the lectures are printed, published and distributed at the expense of the University: subject to this, the copyright in the lectures belongs to the Professor.

The lectures* must be delivered in the English language in Calcutta, but the Professor is not compelled to reside in Calcutta.

The Professor is appointed for such a term of years as the Senate may think desirable, and is eligible for re-appointment.

The salary is Rs. 10,000 per annum.

It is desirable that candidates should state in their applications the least number of years for which they are willing to accept the appointment, and the subjects on which they desire to lecture.

The qualifications of candidates should be fully stated and guaranteed by testimonials.

Further information may be obtained from the Registrar, Calcutta University.

* Not less than twelve lectures must be delivered in each year; and not more than one lecture in each week during the months of February, March, April, July and August.

76. Read the following letter from the Revd. K. M. Banerjea on the Sanskrit Course now in use at the several examinations:—

"I was asked last year to make a report on the Sanskrit Courses now in use at the several examinations of the Calcutta University, and to submit a scheme for their improvement, if necessary.

"I do not think the Courses absolutely require much revision. The only inconvenience I noticed at the Entrance Examination was owing to the Upakramanika being mentioned by name as the text book on Grammar. Examiners considered themselves unduly fettered thereby. They were unwilling to set questions on Grammar which could not be correctly answered from a knowledge of the Upakramanika only. This reluctance extended also to verbs and verbals which actually occurred in the Reading text book—the Riju Pátha. The Examiners felt themselves restrained from setting questions on the etymology of words and the principal parts of verbs occurring in the Riju Pátha itself if such questions could not, in their opinion, be accurately answered from the rules of the Upakramanika. The grammatical text book operated, therefore, as a damper on the grammatical examination of Sanskrit.

"I think, therefore, the mention of the Upakramanika should be omitted, and without naming any special Grammar, there should be a general requirement in some such words as the following:—

"'The elementary principles of the Sanskrit Grammar, with special reference to verbs and verbals occurring in the Reading text book.' This would itself improve the Course by enlarging the scope of the examination.

"In the First Arts no necessity has been urged for raising the test. I have only heard of a feeling that it should be somewhat reduced; and it was with this view that the learned Vidyasagar has proposed the transposition of the Uttara Charita and the Sacuntalá, that is, pushing up the former to the B. A. Course, and bringing down the latter to the F. A.

"The objection which was expressed last year to this proposal was the inconvenience which would be felt at least for two years immediately following the transposition, owing to boys who studied the Uttara Charita in the 1st and 2nd year's classes having in such a case to study the same in the 3rd and 4th year's classes after passing the F. A. I would suggest as a remedy for this inconvenience, the substitution of the Sacuntalá for the Uttara Charita in the First Arts, and the adoption of another book in the B. A. Course in the place of the Sacuntalá. And I would recommend a moderate portion of the Rig Veda Sanhita to fill up the vacancy caused by the transfer of the Sacuntalá to the First Arts.

"I think the Calcutta University ought to promote the study of the Vedas more largely. We have introduced it in the Honor Course; but we ought to popularize it more by a moderate requirement of it in the B. A. Course. We require the first four Adhyayas, or half the First Ashtaka of the Rig Veda Sanhita in the Honor Course. I would propose the first two Adhyayas or a quarter of the First Ashtaka for the B. A. Course.

"With proper explanations of obsolete forms, the portion here proposed for the B. A. Course will by no means be more difficult than the Sacuntalá which it will replace.

"The only questions are, whether handy editions of the original with such explanations of archaic forms are available for students. But there is the Asiatic Society's edition, with Sáyana's commentary and an English translation by Dr. Roer, already at hand. There is Rosen's edition of the First Ashtaka, with a Latin translation. There is Professor Wilson's translation too—to say nothing of Max Müller's six volumes, which, though too unwieldy for general use, may be great auxiliaries in the hands of tutors. There is also Aufrecht's edition in three small volumes in the Roman character.

"I take the liberty at the same time of naming another edition now printing at the Baptist Mission Press, the first part of which will be out before another half-year, with at least the portion here recommended for the B. A. Course. It will contain grammatical and explanatory notes, by means of which, it is hoped, the text will present no difficulties to those who can construe the Raghubansa or the Sacuntalá. I send herewith 12 copies of the first form of this forthcoming edition for the use of the Syndicate.

"I do not think the Syndicate should prescribe or name any particular edition; but if the principle of the introduction of Vedic study in the B. A. Course be adopted, and if it appear that there are sufficient helps available for students to justify its introduction, then the portion required may be mentioned without naming any especial edition."

ORDERED—

That Mr. Banerjea's proposals be brought up for consideration at a future meeting, and that in the meantime, the opinions of Professor Cowell, Dr. Bühler, and Dr. Kielhorn be invited on the question of introducing a small portion of the Vedas into the Sanskrit Course for the B. A. degree.

77. The following gentlemen were appointed to conduct the Medical Examinations of 1875:—

78. On the proposal of the Vice-Chancellor, it was decided that the question of repealing Sections 8 and 9 of the First M. B. Regulations and Sections 4 and 5 of the Regulations for Honors in Medicine be submitted for the consideration of the Faculty of Medicine.

79. The consideration of the question of adopting the Rev. Dr. Jardine's Treatise on Psychology as a text-book was deferred till the opinions of the Press on the present edition could be laid before the Syndicate.

80. Read letter from Messrs. Thacker and Company of London, advising the despatch of four cases of books selected by Mr. H. F. Blanford for the University Library, and requesting the University to honor their draft in favor of Messrs. Thacker, Spink and Company for Rs. 2,278-10 on account of cost of the same, with commission and freight and charges.

ORDERED—

That the Registrar be authorized to pay the draft on the due date.

81. Read letter No. 25 of 27th January from the Government of India, sanctioning the payment of Rs. 500 from the contingent grant of the University to the two clerks* of the Post Office who were instrumental in bringing to punishment the Entrance candidates who attempted to tamper with the packets containing questions during their transit by post.

* Mr. Deefholts Rs. 300
Baboo Kedarnath Mukhopadhyay „ 200

ORDERED—

To be recorded.

82. Read endorsement No. 389 of 30th December of the Home Department, forwarding the orders of the Financial Department No. 7323, dated 22nd idem, stating that the amounts both of receipts and expenditure on account of the University for 1875-76 had been fixed at Rs. 51,000.

ORDERED—

To be recorded.

83. Read letter from Baboo Rajendralala Mitra, requesting the Syndicate (1) to sanction the publication of answers of some of the best M. A. candidates, and (2) to permit reporters to be present at the meetings of the Senate.

ORDERED—

That Baboo Rajendralala be informed that the Syndicate do not think it advisable to deviate from the practice of all Universities in the non-publication of answers given up at the examinations, and that they do not think it desirable to permit reporters to be present at the meetings of the Senate.

84. Read a letter from Lala Baijnath, Officiating Head Master of the Hoshiarpore School, requesting that graduates from the Colleges in the Punjab may be allowed to appear at the B. L. Examination without fulfilling the requirements of paragraph 2 of the B. L. Regulations, as regards attendance on a three years' course of lectures at an affiliated college.

ORDERED—

That Lala Baijnath be informed that his request cannot be complied with.

BABOO SHAMACHARAN SIRCAR.
BABOO JUGGADANANDA MOOKERJEA, RAI BAHADOOR.
MOULOVI ABDOOL LUTEEF, KHAN BAHADOOR.

86. The Faculty met to consider, by request of the Senate and the Syndicate, "the question of revising the scheme for the Tagore Law Lectures as to the subjects upon which the Professor shall deliver a course of lectures," and to elect a President and representative of the Faculty in the Syndicate for 1875-76.

It was resolved by the Faculty :—

That the following changes in the scheme as laid down at page 125 of the calendar for 1874-75 be recommended to the Syndicate :—

(1). That head (a) of the present scheme be altered by striking out the word "annually" in the fourth line, and the last three words "and the Professor."

(2). That under the same head, the words "Hindu, Mahomedan or Anglo-Indian" in the third line be struck out.

87. The Faculty then proceeded to elect a President and representative of the Faculty in the Syndicate for 1875-76.

The Hon'ble Arthur Hobhouse was re-elected President and representative of the Faculty in the Syndicate for the year 1875-76.

88. The Faculty met to consider, by request of the Syndicate, the question of repealing Sections 8 and 9 of the First M. B. Regulations, and Sections 4 and 5 of the Regulations for Honors in Medicine.

After considering the question referred by the Syndicate, the Faculty adopted the following resolution :—

The Faculty are of opinion that before agreeing to take steps to repeal Sections 8 and 9 of the First M. B. Regulations, and Sections 4 and 5 of the Regulation for Honors in Medicine, the Syndicate should be requested to ascertain from the local Government whether it is willing to provide funds for the award of the medical scholarships on the same footing as at present.

89. The Faculty then proceeded to elect a President and representative in the Syndicate for the year 1875-76.

Dr. Partridge was elected President and representative in the Syndicate for 1875-76.

90. The Registrar was requested to draw the attention of the Syndicate to the desirability of informing the Royal College of Surgeons and the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine at the University of Edinburgh, of the change in the qualification for admission to medical studies at this University which will take effect on 15th June next.

98. Read the following letter from the Hon'ble W. Markby to the President of the Faculty of Law :—

Calcutta, 5th February 1875.

You may recollect that two years ago the Chancellor, in his address to the congregation, adverted to the fact that the University of Calcutta took no part in the direct functions of education, and that after saying that there seemed to be nothing in the constitution of the University which prevented its doing so, he pointed out that the result of the University undertaking these functions would be to disassociate Government as a government from high education, and that ultimately he expressed an opinion in favour of such disassociation. It seems to me that the time has come when such a disassociation is, in respect of legal education, both possible and desirable.

Our regulations require that in order to be admissible as a candidate for the degree of B. A., every student must

(a) have attained the degree of B. A.,

(b) have attended the lectures in a School of Law recognized by the Syndicate for three years.

There have been hitherto six such schools in Bengal: at Calcutta, Hoogly, Dacca, Kishnaghur, Berhampore, and Patna.

In consequence of a recent resolution of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, none of these institutions, except that at Calcutta, will be able to satisfy the above conditions, their teaching of law being restricted to the first year's course. The only school of law, therefore, will be that at Calcutta, which is attached to the Presidency College, and is under the control of Government.

I would propose that the University should establish at Calcutta a school of law of its own with six Professors—

(1).—A Professor of General Jurisprudence, Legal History and Constitutional Law.
(2).—A Professor of the Law of Land Tenures and Revenue Law.
(3).—A Professor of Hindoo Law.
(4).—A Professor of Muhammedan Law.
(5).—A Professor of Criminal Law.
(6).—A Professor of the Law of Mortgages and of Commercial Law.

Each student to pay a fee of Rs. 100 per annum entitling him to attend all the lectures. Half the total amount of fees to be divided equally amongst the Professors, the remaining half to be divided amongst them in proportion to the number of students actually present at and attending their lectures.

It is probable from the experience of past years, that each Professor would have it in his power to secure a fair income. There have been generally between 400 and 500 students attending Law lectures in Bengal. If we could reckon on 300, the fees would amount to Rs. 30,000 a year, giving Rs. 5,000 a year to each Professor.

I think a small percentage might be taken off the fees in order to provide funds for a Law library.

The lectures might be delivered in the University Hall.

The question is whether such a School of Law would be better than that now existing at the Presidency College—I think it would. The Presidency College has only two Professors at a salary of Rs. 500 a month each, a staff obviously insufficient for the number of students, which has hitherto generally exceeded 300.

I think it quite possible that a scheme might be devised for the Tagore Law lectures which might be advantageously combined with this scheme.

I have avoided many details which will, of course, have to be considered. I have only put my proposals in a sufficiently definite shape for preliminary consideration.

ORDERED—

That Mr. Markby's letter be submitted to the Faculty of Law for consideration and report.

99. The Registrar submitted a memorandum by Messrs. Thacker, Spink, & Co., showing that the entire cost of composition, paper, press work, and binding of 500 copies of the Tagore Law lectures for 1874 amounted to Rs. 2,195, and suggested that he should be authorised by the Syndicate to arrange with the Professor for the payment of Rs. 1,600 from the Tagore Fund in part liquidation of this bill, leaving the balance to be paid by the Professor.

ORDERED—

That the Registrar's suggestion be approved.

100. The consideration of the question of adopting Lethbridge's Histories of England and India as text books for the Entrance Examination, was deferred till the next meeting.

101. Mr. Dyson's proposal to appoint text books for Honors in Philosophy was also ordered to be brought forward at the next meeting.

102. Read letter from Akshay Kumar Sen, requesting that, under the circumstances set forth in his letter, the penalty imposed on him by the Syndicate may be remitted.

ORDERED—

That, under the circumstances, the request be complied with.

103. The Registrar laid before the Syndicate a proposal by Mr. W. G. Willson, that certain alterations be made in the Honor course in Physics, viz.:—

In place of—

(e).—Physics, viz., heat, electricity, magnetism [chemistry] ;

The following—

2. Inorganic chemistry, including qualitative analysis [organic chemistry].

ORDERED—

That Mr. Willson's proposal be brought forward at some future meeting of the Syndicate.

104. Read letter No. 50 of 9th February, from Dr. King, Examiner in Botany, for the First L. M. S. Examination, requesting that the fee for conducting the examination may be raised from Rs. 300 to Rs. 600.

ORDERED—

That Dr. King be informed that the Syndicate regret that the funds placed at their disposal for the remuneration of Examiners do not enable them to comply with his request.

105. The following selections in languages for the Entrance, First Arts, B. A. and Honor Examinations of 1877-78 were appointed :—

MINUTES OF THE FACULTY OF LAW,

FOR THE YEAR 1874-75.

No. 5.

THE 6TH MARCH.

Present:

THE PRESIDENT in the Chair.
THE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE JACKSON.
THE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MARKBY.
MR. MILLETT.
MR. PHILLIPS.
MR. BRANSON.
BABU SHAMACHURN SIRCAR.

106. The Faculty met to consider the following letter from Mr. Justice Markby to the President. (Minutes, para. 98.)

Read the following Minute by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal:—

"I understand that the University of Calcutta desire to establish an enlarged and improved system of Law lecturing at the Presidency.

I should be very unwilling to remove this work from the Presidency College, where it is now done, and where the Law lectures are open to students of all colleges.

But I should be quite willing to adopt at the Presidency College any plan in its integrity which the University may, on consideration, deem the best, both as regards the salaries of Professors (up to Rs. 30,000), as regards subjects of lectures, terms of admission and the like, indeed all particulars in detail.

The first plan by the University (which is, however, as I understand, to be modified in detail) proposes a set of Professors whose salaries will, in the aggregate, amount to Rs. 30,000 a year, the greater part of which will, it is hoped, be covered by fees.

At present the amount realized by fees at the Presidency College is Rs. 16,000 per annum. This might increase up to Rs. 20,000. But I learn that more than this could not be reckoned on at present.

I should, however, be willing to make up from Government funds the difference between the amount of fees and the cost of the University's scheme up to Rs. 30,000, and within this limit to guarantee on the part of the Government of Bengal, the salaries of the Professors.

I should regard this degree of Governmental subvention quite justifiable, considering the great importance to the State of diffusing sound legal education. And I am very desirous of promoting in any way I can the University's wishes in this behalf.

I shall be glad to know the University's decision as soon as conveniently possible, in order that I may give effect to the scheme from the beginning of the coming official year."

Resolved:—

That having regard to the Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, it is not desirable now to proceed with any scheme for legal education, having for its basis the disassociation of Government from legal education.

That it is desirable to give such assistance as the University can give to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in his plans for the promotion of legal education.

That it be referred to a Sub-Committee of the Faculty to consider what plan of legal education at the Presidency College will be satisfactory to the University, having especial reference to the pecuniary resources mentioned in the Lieutenant-Governor's Minute.

That the Sub-Committee shall also consider whether or no it is possible to make the Tagore Professorship auxiliary to the plan of education recommended by them.

That the Sub-Committee consist of the following gentlemen:—

Mr. Justice Markby, Chairman.

Mr. Millet.

Mr. Phillips.

107. The Vice-Chancellor having declared the Convocation opened, the graduates of the year were admitted to their respective degrees in the usual manner.

The Vice-Chancellor then addressed the Senate and graduates as follows:—

This year for the first time no books have been prescribed for the Entrance Examination in English. It is very satisfactory to find that the experiment has worked well. There has been a slight contraction in the number of candidates—there being only 2,254 against 2,544 in 1873. But in reality this cannot be deemed any loss to the University, for the proportion of those who have passed is much higher—43 per cent. as against 33 per cent. last year; and moreover, the percentage of those who have passed in the first and second classes is also higher. Moreover, actually higher marks were on the average gained this year for English than was the case, and I can personally testify that the papers set were, without being too severe, such that certainly no student could have been placed in the first class without a very good, and in the second class without a very competent, knowledge of the English language, its structure, and its idioms.

Possibly a few scarcely qualified candidates have been deterred from coming up, while, on the other hand, the testing of the education of the rest has been far more thorough and genuine than before, and the students have undergone it very satisfactorily. If future experience bears out this promise of success, I trust the University will be able to extend the system of examining without prescribing books to other subjects, and to higher standards.

The only marked failure has been in the First Arts Examination. I am afraid this is to be attributed to the class of students who came up to the Entrance the year before last, many of whom barely passed. This seems shown by the following facts: The number of candidates being nearly the same both this year and the last, no less than 64 per cent. failed in 1874, while in 1873 only 44 per cent. failed; and in one subject taught from a fixed text book, and the minimum number of marks required in which is only 25 per cent. of the maximum number, no less than 159 out of 533 candidates failed to get this minimum. Yet this did not result from any exceptional severity in the examination papers, which were of the usual description.

The B. A. Examination has shown no special results. Of 217 candidates, 79 were examined according to the B. or Physical Science Course. Many of the best students of the year chose this course, but the Examiners report that their answers went little beyond the careful re-production of the matter of the text books. It will be probably found necessary to give a greater prominence during future examinations in this Course to questions calculated to test the student's practical knowledge of the subject.

In the M. A. Examination there has been a slight decrease both in the number of candidates and in the number of those who passed,—a result probably attributable in both cases to the same cause, the raising of the standard of the examination under the advice tendered to the University by last year's Examiners. The present Examiners testify that the effect has been this year satisfactory, being merely to exclude one or two candidates whose acquirements did not really merit an M. A. degree.

Prasannakumar Lahiri, who last year gained the Radhakant Medal in Sanscrit at the B. A. Examination, besides distinguishing himself in other departments, has maintained his place as the best student of his year, and has been placed in the first class in English. One other first class has also been awarded in Physics and Chemistry.

There has been a falling off in the number of those who have attained the degree of Bachelor of Laws as compared with last year, but last year's results were exceptionally favourable, and the failures this year have not been confined to any particular branch of Law, but were pretty equally divided through all parts of this subject.

The University has now determined to require the passing of the First Arts Examination as a preliminary condition to admission to Medical studies. The Examiners, Teachers, and Local Government were unanimous in desiring this measure, which will, I have no doubt, have hereafter an important beneficial effect on the teaching of Medical Science.

The measures of the University have, as you will see by these remarks, still been directed to maintaining a higher standard of teaching and more thoroughly testing its results.

I regret to announce that, acting on the opinions of the Examiners, the Syndicate found themselves unable this year to award the Prem Chand Roy Chand Scholarship to any candidate. It is the present intention of the University to offer for competition two Scholarships next year, the second being held for one year less than usual.

Another circumstance of a pleasanter character has been the presence in a high place of the Cambridge Mathematical Honor List of the name of that student of our own University for whom my learned predecessor, Sir H. Maine, predicted such a success if he should attempt it. I trust it may be the first step in an useful, successful and honorable career.

Four of our Fellows have been lost to us by death this year. Of Raja Kalikrishna, so well known to all who hear me, I need say little: to high personal character he united considerable acquirements, and his passionate devotion to the ancient classical literature of his country was worthy of all respect. Dr. Satkauri Dutt was a man who sought only unostentatiously and zealously to do his duty, but his ability, industry and conscientiousness won him a reputation in this city which will long survive. Dr. Chuckerbutty would deserve mention if only as the representative of that first little band who braved all prejudice in the pursuit of knowledge, and set the example, now more widely followed, of proceeding to Europe in search of it; but he deserves more notice than this, for his unfortunately too short life was worthy of the promise of his youth, and he had earned an honourable place in his profession and in the estimation of all classes of society when he was prematurely called away.

And, lastly, I have to mention the name of one who was in daily amiliar intercourse with many of you, and whose brilliant career has been brought to a very early close: I mean the late Mr. Beebee, whose zeal and devotion to his duties and the interests of his students were known to you all. After gaining other University distinctions, he graduated ten years ago as 4th in the Classical and 18th in the Mathematical Honor List of his year at Cambridge; he left his own University with a scholastic reputation which would have secured him an honorable entrance into any profession. He selected the Educational Service in India as his career, and devoted to it all his abilities and enthusiasm. His early death is a grave loss to the University, to the College to which he was attached, and to a large body of Native and European friends by whom he was equally respected and beloved.

And now I will take advantage of the last opportunity which I shall have of addressing you as Vice-Chancellor to ask your attention to some of the leading topics regarding the functions of the University, its present position, its possible future, which I have from time to time urged upon you during the past six years. I know a recurrence to these topics may be somewhat wearisome, but I feel so earnestly and so strongly the great importance of the task which the University is called upon to perform, and the hindrances to which it has been sometimes exposed by what I believe to be misunderstandings, that I must ask your indulgence for a few minutes.

And first of all as to the position of the University itself. Its establishment as an independent corporation was the primary step towards the end aimed at by the great Educational despatch of 1854, namely, that of establishing a system of higher education—catholic in its character, and designed gradually to become self-sustaining. For this object it was essential to provide a controlling influence apart from Government, uniform in its action, and competent to maintain high standards without variation or caprice, yet capable of adapting itself to the growing wants of the Empire.

Such being the status of the University, its main function is, no doubt, the testing and the control of higher education, and the formation of a class of trained thinkers, able in their turn to lead and educate their fellow-countrymen, and to raise up indigenous schools of science, of literature—schools, indeed, of new thought upon all the subjects which awake the interest and affect the condition of mankind.

Nor does it, I think, admit of any real controversy that the training which, for this object, the University must seek to secure is one which shall give such due exercise to all the various faculties of the mind as to prepare it to grapple honestly, boldly and accurately with the problems that come before it, as well those which are practical as those which are abstract, those which appertain to the business of daily life, as well as those which affect things of yet higher importance.

In short, our aim is to place the student who attains our degrees in the arena of life armed with the best intellectual weapons and skilled in the use of them.

But though this is the main, it is not the only, duty of the University. One clear function of all Universities has always been to provide for the special teaching of those professions which are commonly called learned professions—professions, that is, the successful prosecution of which necessitates both a high standard of general intellectual training as well as the simultaneous and early acquirement of special technical knowledge.

Under the present necessities of society in India this latter duty and that of the encouragement of a more extensive pursuit of physical science have, perhaps, become specially incumbent on Indian Universities.

Lastly, there is influence which, however indirect, I believe the University is capable of exercising on the education and elevation of the great mass of the people. I quite acknowledge that this is not wholly within the direct province of the University itself; yet this lower class education is a necessity of such enormous importance, that it calls, I believe, for the exertion of every influence which is capable of usefully affecting it. Until a breathing life is infused into the vast dead mass of ignorance which lies all around us, the really educated class, which it is the prime function of the University to create and to maintain, can hardly exert their proper influence. Until the general mass of the people is aroused to intelligence and intellectual action, the country will never enjoy its fair share of material prosperity, or occupy its proper place in the list of nations. I do believe that the University is in a position indirectly to give an impetus to this class of education such as it has given to higher education, and such as I believe no other influence can give.

If these be the objects we set out by seeking, it may, I think, be fairly asked how far the University, now emerging from its technical nonage, has helped their attainment, and is in a position further to advance them.

In its first object, in the maintenance of a high, uniform and continuous standard of intellectual training and the enforcement of thorough teaching, I think that, without infringing the bounds of truth, we may claim for the University at least a fair proportion of success; the area of our influence has been annually extending, and for the last few years our efforts have been mainly directed to a more complete testing of the education which professes to be under our guidance. We have been able, moreover, from time to time to raise our requirements with the advancing growth of education, or to modify them according to the facts which experience brought to light. I may mention as a few instances the abolition of the lower standard in Law, the recent adoption of a higher preliminary qualification for the commencement of medical lectures, the encouragement given to physical studies, the rising of the minimum number of marks in the higher examinations, and, above all, the abolition of any prescribed list of books for the Entrance Examination in English. I have already spoken of the way in which these alterations have worked so far as they have been put in force, they were all adopted cautiously, and after long and anxious deliberation, and I think we may congratulate ourselves on the measure of success with which they have been already attended.

We have sought, in short, sound and solid progress rather than a mushroom rapidity of growth. And the question after all really is, what has been the practical result of our exertions?

I speak to those who have every day experience of those results, and I think I may appeal to them confidently for a favorable answer. I by no means wish to claim any complete and unmixed success. Our University has to contend against difficulties and disadvantages which are unknown to most European Universities, and in many respects has to combat also in a far higher degree the chief evils which likewise beset the latter. Nor do I mean to claim for ourselves any immunity from imperfection and from error. We have been compelled often to work in great uncertainty as to the precise effect of our measures, sometimes with inferior instruments and on imperfectly prepared material. There have been, and still are, many other obstacles in our way; and that much partial failure should, specially at first, attend our efforts, is scarcely wonderful. Nevertheless I do honestly believe that we have achieved already a very creditable and important success. I do not speak of the mere scholastic acquirements of our graduates, though these have often been of a very high standard, but of the University system itself, which has, I feel no doubt, aided materially in moulding for good the large and growing class which leads the Native community. At least I am sure that no one will deny the extensive influence which the University has had on the training of this class, and I confidently believe that it has been, as we have desired it to be, a right influence.

In other words, I do think that the class which the University directly influences has gone forth into active life with better trained intellectual faculties, with more cultivated imaginations, with higher aims, wider sympathies, than those which any other class among the Native community possess; and I do believe that these qualifications have to a great extent borne fruit in stricter integrity and a purer mode of life.

If I am right in making this assertion—and I do so after much careful observation and patient inquiry—then, indeed, the University has done something towards the fulfilment of its highest function.

Nor in the field of professional training do I think there is any reason to be dissatisfied with the outcome of our exertions: at least in Medicine and in Law there are many of our graduates now rising to distinguished positions, some of whom would probably achieve eminence in any country. But here, too, our means have yet been imperfect, and the time has probably now come for more extensive and for more direct action in this respect on the part of the University: but on this point I will speak again presently.

As to the direct aid of the University in arousing the mass of the people from their death-sleep of ignorance, I can say nothing. That in this respect the University has shown itself willing to give the full aid of its assistance is all that can be now said. I trust the time will soon come when its co-operation may be utilized.

But what of the future? Whatever our success has been, the field over which the University's action extends is so immense, that we cannot claim to have made yet a very perceptible impression on it. Of course such a consideration must stimulate only to more and more energetic exertion, and I propose now to enquire in what direction that exertion may best be expended. In doing this I will not attempt to sketch the ideal career of a typical Indian University, but endeavour to point out as simply as I can the direction in which past experience seems to show that further advance and more extended success is now plainly and immediately practicable. There is at least no doubt that, whatever success has been achieved by the University towards raising up a body of highly educated Natives, however valuable their action on the general body of Native society has shown itself to be, there is yet ample room for the far wider numerical extension of this class, and an almost indefinitely large opening for its beneficial action.

Again, whatever excellence that class may have attained, is there not further room for improvement in the modes of training it? No doubt, in touching this last point, I approach many controversies into which I have no time to enter, but I may say briefly that the conclusion to which my own experience has led me is, that while we should in the first place look for a sound general intellectual training as a preliminary condition for entrance on our rolls, that while we should not neglect the maintenance of this, at least to some extent, in our higher examinations, yet that in these last, and especially in the highest, it will probably be expedient to make a yet more complete separation of various courses of study so as to avoid still further the danger of a superficial attention being paid to many subjects, instead of a thorough study of one or two.

I know that many to whose opinion I would generally defer do not concur with me on this point, and I am not ignorant, even if the principle be accepted, of the difficulties which stand in the way of carrying it out.

Of course the University cannot prescribe standards for teaching while no machinery exists, and this has been one of the great obstacles with which we have had to deal. But something has been already done to remedy this difficulty. Additional special teaching of a high character has gradually been provided both in Bengal and in the North-Western Provinces, and I think also that the time has arrived when the University itself may very properly, within its means, assume to some extent actual teaching of the highest character. This was, indeed, contemplated in that same memorable despatch which directed the establishment of the Universities. It was, in fact, said in so many words in the 30th paragraph of that document: "It will no doubt be advisable to institute, in connection with the University, Professorships for the purpose of the delivery of lectures in various branches of learning, for the acquisition of which, at any rate in an advanced degree, facilities do not now exist in other institutions in India." I think that the time has come when not only the advisability but the actual pressing need of some such measure has become manifest. It is clear that it is not possible, on grounds of expense, to maintain many chairs of the highest class, and if they be attached to any special school or college, few can profit by them save those who belong to that particular institution. Now it is certain that a very large number of independent institutions are springing up which teach up to the point at which the special teaching should begin, but which cannot afford to go further; and if such special teaching is as great a general need as I believe it to be, it seems only just and fair that it should be open to all who are qualified to make a right use of it. It is indeed the express policy of the despatch of 1854 to give every encouragement to such independent institutions, and the necessity for some such plan of University Professorships will become more evident year by year as these institutions gain in strength, and apparently its general adoption in some form or other cannot long be delayed. It has become a mere question of time and of money. As to the latter, indeed, such a scheme would, I think, from the outset be partially self-supporting, and I feel confident that either the aid of Government or private liberality will, when the time comes, supply the rest.

These remarks are particularly applicable to one branch of professional teaching,—I mean that of Law.—Indeed, Law was pointed out as the first subject which should be taken up in the same paragraph of the despatch of which I have read a portion. The study of this profession does not necessitate, as that of Medicine does, the assistance of extensive appliances for demonstration and research. It is a study which can be pursued by any one possessed of fair abilities and fair general mental training. It is one, therefore, which may, and I think should, be open to all students alike from all quarters and of all institutions. And the necessity of something being done to improve the existing system of legal teaching is becoming very urgent. On the Native lawyers of the present generation are more and more devolving duties demanding deep research, correct knowledge of principles of Law, and skill in the application of them—duties, in truth, not inferior to those which belong to the legal profession in all parts of the world. The training they receive, therefore, should not be inferior either. But with no sort of disrespect to the learned gentlemen who now are chiefly responsible for it, I think it must be admitted that the extent of the present machinery does not admit of the best possible teaching being given in each important branch of the subject.

A thorough recasting of this machinery is therefore a distinct want. Indeed, it has already been brought urgently under the attention of the University authorities by one of the most learned and active among our members. I may say that measures are in contemplation to meet, at any rate to some extent, the necessities of the case, and I think I may promise that they will not be allowed to sleep. I feel sure, moreover, that if the carrying out of these measures be, as I believe it ought to be, and trust that it will be, committed to the charge of the University, they will be arranged so as to give the widest benefit to all classes of students, will be established on a well-considered and consistent basis, and be far more fully and closely supervised than will be possible in any other way.

And now having touched thus summarily the main questions of interest connected with the present position of the University, I desire to repeat on this occasion the appeal which I have more than once made to those of our graduates who have gone out into the active business of life. I make that appeal, not as a mere matter of form, but as a sincere and earnest exhortation on a very real and urgent matter.

I have said before, and I feel confident it is no exaggeration, that in a very large measure upon them depend the national progress and welfare of their countrymen. By the example of their lives they all do much for good or evil, for all possess a very large influence on those immediately in contact with them. But it is not merely the passive aid of their example which I call upon them to give. If they feel that they have derived any better standard of morals, any higher aims, any more refined intellectual pleasures, larger influence, respect, or material advantage from their training, they are bound by the commonest laws of gratitude and generosity to repay some portion of the good things they have received. This they can scarcely do in any better way than in communicating to the mass of their less fortunate fellow-countrymen some share of the intellectual advantages which they enjoy. The power of doing this depends so much on their individual circumstance, that I cannot profess to do more than to direct special attention to the three palpable needs which six years ago I indicated as those toward satisfying which every graduate of the University ought to lend some personal aid: I mean the spread of Vernacular education, the creation of a national literature, and of a national school of science. Something, no doubt, is being gradually done towards the second object, but this can never find its full development while Vernacular education is so backward as at present, and scientific literature at least must await the existence of a school of Vernacular science. Still, there is in India so boundless a field for the exercise of literary ability and for scientific research of every class, that for very shame we should not allow it to remain unworked.

I think that in some one or other of these directions every University graduate can at least do a little, and a little, if well done and oftentimes repeated, soon makes itself felt. It is not much to ask this, and I do trust that now that we count our graduates, not by scores but by hundreds, some progress in all these directions will be soon manifest.

And while on this subject, I would venture to add one word more. It is, I fear, a rather common fault with all men—and it is one that seems to me peculiarly common and fatal at this day and in Native society—that men abstain from doing good or attacking evil when the opportunity is plain before them for lack of faith in their individual power; but it is no new lesson which science teaches when it says that no energy, however feeble, is ever lost, and that no exertion is without some avail. It may be that we must work with little knowledge of the way in which our efforts may contribute the ultimate result; but if they are just and well aimed, they cannot fail to contribute in some way or another to ultimate success, and I would remind you that some of the greatest triumphs in the world's history have been wrought by those to whom life appeared as > "A battle whose great scheme and scope

> They little cared to know,
> Content as men at arms to cope
> Each with his fronting foe."

I will detain you no further than to bid you farewell, and to assure you of the sincere interest which I must always feel in the career of the University and in its success. I shall feel this interest primarily no doubt on account of the grand duties which the University has to fulfil, but also because with it will always be connected the memory of some of the most grateful and congenial labors of my life.

REPORT OF THE SYNDICATE FOR THE YEAR 1874-75.

The usual examinations have been held, during the year, in Arts, Law, Medicine, and Engineering; and a tabular statement is appended showing the results and affording a comparison with the results of former years. The total number of candidates at the examinations of the year was 3,346 against 3,710 of last year.

Entrance Examination.

For the Entrance Examination there were 2,254 candidates, of whom 966 passed, 1,232 failed, and 56 were absent. Of the successful candidates, 172 were placed in the first division, 490 in the second, and 304 in the third. Of the 1,232 candidates who failed, 724 were rejected in English, 611 in the second languages, 531 in History and Geography, and 789 in Mathematics.

As compared with 1873, there was a decrease of 290 in the number of candidates in 1874. Last year there was a special reason for the large increase in the number of candidates, viz., the expected difficulty of passing at a future examination for which no text-books in English were prescribed. The result of the examination in 1873 showed how ill-qualified many of the candidates were; only 33 per cent. of the candidates having passed. The result of the examination for 1874 shows that 43 per cent. of the candidates passed, whilst a larger proportion than usual gained places in the first and second divisions. Considering that this was the first examination for which there was no appointed text-book in English, the result may be considered satisfactory.

The following table shows the number of candidates that came up from each province, the number passed, and the percentage of passed candidates for the years 1873 and 1874:—

First Examination in Arts.

For the First Examination in Arts, 533 candidates were registered. One candidate died before the examination began, one was* turned out of the examination, and five were absent: of the remainder only 193 were successful, and 333 were plucked. Of the successful candidates, 18 were placed in the first division, 78 in the second, and 97 in the third. Of those who failed, 228 were rejected in English, 208 in the second languages, 159 in History, 122 in Mathematics, 117 in Logic and Psychology, and 93 in Logic and Chemistry. Candidates had the option of taking up Logic and Chemistry, or Logic and Psychology, on the last day of the examination; and in Logic, Chemistry and Psychology, respectively, 188, 74, and 93 candidates failed to gain 25 per cent. of the marks. The number of candidates at this examination was nearly the same as last year, being 533 against 539. But the percentage of passed candidates fell from 56 to 36. There was nothing exceptional in the character of the questions set, and it would seem that this unfavorable result must be mainly due to the incompetence or want of application of the candidates. This explanation is borne out by the fact that in the subject of History, where there is a fixed text-book and only 25 per cent. of the marks to be gained for a pass, no less than 159 candidates failed to gain the minimum pass marks.

A comparative statement of the number of candidates, the number passed, and the percentage of passed candidates from each province for the years 1873 and 1874, is subjoined :—

B. A. Degree Examination.

This was the first occasion on which candidates had the option of being examined in the A (Literature) Course, or in the B (Science) Course. The number of candidates registered for examination was 217, or 5 in excess of the number last year, and of these 138 took up the A Course, and 79 the B Course.

Of the 138 candidates in the A Course, 46 were successful, 90 failed, and 2 were unable to appear. Three of the successful candidates were placed in the first division, 22 in the second, and 21 in the third.

Of the 79 candidates in the B Course, 54 elected to be examined in Physics, 22 in Botany, and three in Zoology. Forty-four of the candidates were successful: 23 being placed in the first division, 16 in the second, and 5 in the third.

The greater success of the candidates who took up the B Course is accounted for by the Examiners, who, in their report, say—

"As there are two subjects (English and Mathematics) in common to the A and B Courses, and as the Science students have gained higher marks in these two common subjects, we are warranted in concluding that the best students have selected the Science Course."

Of the 125 candidates who failed, 67 were rejected in English, 37 in the second languages, 14 in History, 91 in Mathematics, 48 in Philosophy, 19 in Chemistry, 15 in Physical Geography, 12 in Physics, 6 in Botany, and 1 in Zoology.

M. A. Examination.

There were 26 candidates for Honors in Arts, of whom 13 were successful, 2 being placed in the first class, 5 in the second class, and 6 in the third. For the degree of M. A. there were 12 candidates, of whom 6 were successful. The standard for passing in honors and for the degree of M. A. was, on the recommendation of the Senior Board of Examiners for 1874, slightly raised this year, and to this cause is probably due the decrease both in the number of candidates and the number passed. The minimum pass marks for each paper are now 30 per cent., with an aggregate of 40 per cent. in all the papers for a third class in honors. No change has been made in the aggregate percentage of marks required for a first or second class; nor has there been any change at all in the standard for mathematical honors.

The Institutions from which the candidates came up, the subject of examination, and the number passed, are shown in the following tables:—

Examination in Medicine.

Eleven candidates were registered for the First M. B. Examination, and of these 2 passed in the first class and 5 in the second. The others failed.

For the First L. M. S. Examination there were 155 candidates, of whom 69 had failed in previous years. Thirty-one candidates were successful, and amongst these there were only 7 of the 69 who had failed in former years.

For the Second M. B. Examination there was only one candidate, and he had been rejected in 1874. He failed again. For the Second L M. S. Examination there were 42 candidates, 13 of whom had been rejected at the Examination of 1874. Three candidates were turned out of the Examination for resorting to unfair means to pass, and two were absent. Of the others, 13 only were successful. Three of the rejected candidates of 1874 were passed, and of the other 10, 1 was absent and 2 were disqualified for using notes in the Examination Hall.

Examination in Engineering

There were 2 candidates for the degree of B. C. E., both of whom failed. For a License in Engineering there were 22 candidates, of whom only 2 passed.

Premchand Roychand StudentshipExamination.

Three candidates came up to this Examination, but, in the opinion of the Examiners, all failed to show that degree of proficiency which would warrant the award of so valuable a prize. The Syndicate, therefore, decided not to award a Studentship for 1875, but to allow two Studentships to be competed for next year, one being tenable only for four years.

Tagore Law Professorship.

At a meeting of the Senate on the 15th August, Mr. Phillips was elected Tagore Professor of Law for a period of one year, and he is now engaged in delivering a course of lectures on Land Tenures.

At a meeting of the Senate on the 23rd January it was decided that clause (c) of the original scheme for the Tagore Law Lectures should be struck out and the following substituted for it:—

That the Professor be appointed for such term as the Senate think proper in each case, after considering the recommendation of the Syndicate, and that he be always eligible for re-appointment.

An alteration of clause (a) in the existing scheme has been recommended to the Syndicate by the Faculty of Law, and the proposed new clause will be submitted for the sanction of the Senate at the annual meeting.

With a view to seeking a Professor from a larger field than heretofore, the Syndicate have circulated to the Inns of Court in London, the Home Universities and the leading Universities of Germany, a notification setting forth the conditions under which the Professorship is held. This notification is given at page 66 of the minutes for the year.

Changes in Regulations.

Alterations in the schedule of subjects for the Entrance Examination, involving the introduction of portions of Blanford's Physical Geography and of Todhunter's Mensuration, and the exclusion of General Geography, except in so far as necessary to elucidate the Histories taken up, were sanctioned by the Senate in August last, and they will take effect at the next examination.

In June last the Principal of the Medical College represented to the Syndicate that candidates proceeding to the Second L. M. S. and M. B. Examinations ought in future to be required to produce a certificate of having attended a course of 70 lectures on General Pathology and Morbid Anatomy, and of having performed six post-mortem examinations. The proposal having been approved by the Faculty of Medicine, was submitted to the Senate and sanctioned.

The Principal of the Medical College subsequently proposed that the examination in Pathology and Hygiene at the Second L. M. S. and M. B. Examinations should be separated from the examination in Medicine, and form the subject of a separate paper. This proposal was also approved by the Faculty of Medicine and adopted by the Senate.

On the repeated recommendation of the Junior Board of Medical Examiners and the Faculty of Medicine, the Syndicate proposed for the approval of the Senate the substitution of the First Examination in Arts for the Entrance Examination as a qualification for admission to the First L. M. S. Examination. This proposal involved the necessity of making some change in the Regulations for the Second M. B. Regulations, as otherwise the subjects for the Second L. M. S. and M. B. Examinations would have been identical. The Faculty of Medicine recommended the addition of General and Comparative Physiology to the list of subjects in clause 14 of the Second M. B. Regulations, and this alteration was, on the recommendation of the Syndicate, adopted by the Senate.

As the Regulations in Medicine now stand, the distinction between the Examination for a License and that for the degree of M. B. is this—That for the degree a candidate is required to take up one additional subject—Comparative Anatomy and Zoology, at the First Examination,—and one additional subject also,—General and Comparative Physiology,—at the Second Examination.

University Library.

After the addition of Rs. 3,500 to the Library Fund from the surpus receipts of the University for the year 1873-74, the amount of the fund exceeded Rs 9,000. This appeared to the Syndicate to be a sufficiently large sum to warrant the commencement of steps for forming a library in connection with the University. A committee, consisting of Mr. Tawney, Mr. Heeley, Captain Jarrett, and Mr. Sutcliffe, was appointed to draw up a list of books of a suitable character for the library, and their report will be found at page 22 of the minutes for the year. The chief recommendation of the committee was, that the Calcutta University Library should, as far as possible, be made "supplementary to other libraries now existing in Calcutta." The proposals of the committee were approved by the Syndicate, and steps are about to be taken to carry them out entirely. One recommendation has in great part been carried out, viz., the purchase in England, through Mr. Blanford, of some of the best books on Physical Science, not including Botany, Zoology, and the allied sciences, which are believed to be well represented in the collections of the Indian Museum. These books have arrived, but are not yet unpacked. The committee will be requested during the coming year to advise under what rules the library should be made available to Fellows of the University. The Syndicate also have purchased a complete copy of the Asiatic Society's Journal and Proceedings down to 1874, and the Council of the Society have been kind enough to add the University to the list of Institutions entitled to receive a copy of the Journal and Proceedings in future. They have also been pleased to furnish a complete set of the oriental works published in the Bibliotheca Indica for the library, and to direct the supply of all further numbers of the same.

Finances.

A statement of receipts and disbursements from 1st April 1874 to 31st March 1875 is subjoined. It shows that the ordinary receipts of the year have exceeded the ordinary expenditure by Rs. 1,657-7-1. From this surplus the bills which have been adjusted between the Superintendent of Government Printing and the Accountant General, amounting to about Rs. 1,100, should be deducted, and there will remain to the credit of the University something over Rs. 500 :—
